Yes, you can and the leverage applied to the account(s) is in accordance with your request, confirmed through the Portal during the process of opening account(s). Marginal trading is based on the leverage applied on the Client's account(s). The higher leverage, the higher the level of risk and the higher possibility of a profitable return or loss. The leverage applicable to clients' account(s) may vary. The company applies Dynamic Leverage; Dynamic Leverage is a risk management tool that aims to minimize risks deriving from high volume trading since leverage is based per instrument by tiers instead of per account. Margin requirements are set per symbol and automatically adapt in cases where the net number of lots on open positions increases or decreases in the client's account. This is done per trading instrument. More information on Leverage is available in the "Trading Conditions" from your portal under Legal Documents and "Dynamic Leverage" on our website https://en.wmmarkets.com/leverage-details/
